Re: Fax Notifications and e-mail address

Texas United Managing General Agency is asking for your permission to fax and e-mail notifications to your agency. Under various state and federal regulations and laws including but not limited to the Telephone Consumer Protection Act (TCPA), Texas United Managing General Agency must have your permission to send information to your office.

As you know our business does require the necessity of sending many faxes as well as e-mail to make you aware of changes in current programs or introducing new programs. This could be considered a form of advertising, so we may as well take care of the formalities now and obtain your approval to send information to your agency.

In order to better serve our agents and take full advantage of e-mail and internet capabilities, we would appreciate being provided with your agency e-mail address or the address of the person that is responsible handling the e-mails in your office.

We promise not to inundate you with solicitation faxes or e-mails. It will be used to eliminate letters and phone calls whenever possible. We can also see the use of faxing and e-mails as a way to reduce postage for both your agency and Texas United, and will also be used to notify you of both new and special program announcements, rate changes and other information you would need to be aware of when time is of the essence.

Please take a few moments and complete the information below and either e-mail, fax or mail back to Texas United. Thanks in advance for providing this requested information.
